Bio
Brenda McKibbin, A.H.T.
Equine Specialist
Bioniche Animal Health Canada Inc.

Brenda has been involved with horses and animal health in one way or another for most of her life (growing up on a dairy farm, riding, driving, and showing horses). Animal health became a passion; working in a mixed animal practice for most of her teenage years, then graduating from Centralia College with an honors diploma in Animal Health Technology and working in equine veterinary practice.

This comprehensive animal health background led to a position with Vetrepharm; now known as Bioniche Animal Health Canada. Almost twenty years later, she continues to grow and develop with Bioniche in her current position of Equine Specialist.

Brenda has presented at equine events throughout Eastern Canada over the past several years in regards to equine health. She is looking forward to joining CAN-AM attendees to discuss "New Techniques in Wound Care" and "Equine Nutritional Supplements".

Presentation # 2

The Supplement Game

Brenda McKibbin, A.H.T.

Equine Specialist

Bioniche Animal Health Canada Inc.

Would your horse benefit from a nutritional supplement? How would you know and which one(s) should you choose? Our goal is to provide you with information to make an informed decision and keep it simple as possible.

In this session you will learn:

- Symptoms and signs to discuss with your veterinarian that may indicate your horse would benefit from a supplement
- Types of natural supplements formulated to aid in management of various conditions (ie. arthritic, immunity issues, respiratory, tye-up, ulcers, etc.)
- Vitamin and mineral supplementation
- How to keep it simple when choosing supplements as there are literally hundreds to choose from
